MacCormick Fellowships

Deadline: 31 march 2014

Country: United Kingdom;

Field: Юридические

Type: For studying abroad

Website: <http://www2.law.ed.ac.uk/visitors/maccormickfellowships.aspx>

Edinburgh Law School is delighted to offer a visiting fellowship named in honour of Professor Sir Neil MacCormick, Professor Emeritus at Edinburgh Law School, and formerly Regius Professor of Public Law and the Law of Nature and Nations, University of Edinburgh.

If you wish to spend an extended period of time at Edinburgh Law School, we offer a number of MacCormick Visiting Fellowships every year. Edinburgh Law School is highly ranked both in the UK and in Europe, and offers an excellent environment in which to conduct advanced research. Visiting Fellows are provided with work space and related facilities in the School, and some limited financial support for expenses related to the Visit of up to £3,000.

Applications are welcome from scholars in any field of Legal Studies broadly conceived, although preference may be given to applicants whose research is related to the School's research areas or research centres. During their stays, MacCormick Visiting Fellows are required to present one MacCormick Seminar on their work.

Application is by covering letter, Curriculum Vitae, and statement of proposed research, supported by an internal sponsor and including the expected length of visit and required facilities, all of which should be sent by email attachment to Stacey Rudkin, Research and Knowledge Exchange Office. There are no deadlines for MacCormick Fellowship applications which are considered twice a year (31 March and 30 September). Informal enquiries can also be made to Stacey Rudkin, Administrator of the Visiting Academics Programme.

Премия Менегетти-2014: конкурс научных работ

Дедлайн: 31 марта 2014

Страна: СНГ

Область наук: Общенаучные

Веб-сайт: <http://theoryandpractice.ru/grants/1019-premiya-menegetti-2014-konkurs-nauchnykh-rabot>

Фонд научных и гуманистических исследований Антонио Менегетти совместно с центральным представительством города Парадизо (Швейцария) объявил конкурс среди молодых ученых на исследования в области экономики, медицины, физики и философии, которые бы могли внести вклад в онтопсихологическую науку. Цель премии – привлечь внимание научной общественности к молодым и талантливым ученым, к интересным и новаторским исследованиям, способным существенно обогатить современную науку. Премия Менегетти будет присуждаться молодым ученым в знак признания научного характера оригинальных исследований, которые могут быть соотнесены с онтопсихологическим знанием.

Фонд выделяет средства в размере 15 000 евро для каждой премии. Предусматривается также победа ex-aequo двух или более кандидатов в каждой из областей (сумма премии будет разделена между победителями в данной области).

Требования к кандидатам

В конкурсе могут участвовать авторы и авторские коллективы из разных стран, любых научных и образовательных учебных учреждений, имеющие степень магистра или специалиста. На конкурс могут быть представлены:

— научные работы, опубликованные в одном из международных научных журналов не ранее 2012 года;

— оригинальные исследования, полные и подготовленные к печати рукописи, оформленные по всем правилам (с ссылками, примечаниями, библиографией).

Приоритет при выборе победителей будет отдаваться исследованиям, имеющим онтопсихологическую направленность.

Оформление заявки

Заявка на участие в конкурсе должна быть заполнена и отправлена кандидатами на электронный адрес : awards@fondazionemeneghetti.chi в распечатанном виде на почтовый адрес

Fondazione di Ricerca Scientifica ed Umanistica Antonio Meneghetti, Via Cattori 11 — 6900 Paradiso — Svizzera (CH)

не позднее 31 марта 2014 года. К заявке должны быть приложены следующие документы:

- публикация или исследование;
- копия действующего паспорта;

- резюме (не больше страницы);
- диплом магистра (специалиста).

Все отправляемые документы должны быть составлены на итальянском или английском языках. В случае соавторской публикации требуется приложить к заявке письменное согласие соавторов.

Результаты будут известны в последующие 60 дней после получения заявки.

PhD scholarship in Magnetic Resonance Technical University of Denmark, Copenhagen, Denmark

Scholarship / Financial aid: consistent with the current rules for PhD students

Date: 3 years

Deadline: 31 March 2014

Open to: applicants with background in analytical chemistry, pharmacy, biotechnology or equivalent

Announcement follows

The Biomedical Engineering group at the Department of Electrical Engineering seeks a highly motivated PhD student (in chemistry, pharmacy, biotechnology).

The PhD scholarship is part of the project “DNP-LIFE: Hyperpolarized magnetic resonance for in vivo quantification of lipid and sugar metabolism in life style related diseases”. The overall objective of the project is to obtain detailed evidence on metabolic pathway effects due to shifts in dietary intake.

This is very relevant in processing new innovative healthy food product to enter upcoming international markets and thus generate Danish industrial added value.

The hyperpolarization technology for human and large animal studies requires a range of quality control parameters to be measured within a few seconds before the release of the product and delivery to the patient/animal. In this PhD study the limits of “bed-side” pharmacy will be studied and the relevant QC parameters and methods will be investigated. Fast non-contact methods need to be developed for parameters like NMR signal, pH, concentration of the bioprobe.

The suitable candidate should have a strong background in analytical chemistry, pharmacy, biotechnology or equivalent. Starting date: 1 July 2014.

Qualifications

Candidates should have a MSc or a similar degree with an academic level equivalent to the MSc in engineering.

Approval and Enrolment

The scholarships for the PhD degree are subject to academic approval, and the candidates will be enrolled in one of the general degree programmes of DTU. For information about the general requirements for enrolment and the general planning of the scholarship studies, please see the DTU PhD Guide.

Assessment

The assessment of the applicants will be made by Jan Ardenkjaer-Larsen.

Salary and appointment terms

The salary and appointment terms are consistent with the current rules for PhD students. The period of employment is about 3 years.

Further information

Further information may be obtained from Jan Ardenkjaer-Larsen, tel: +45 40 27 27 75.

Application

Please submit your online application no later than 31 March 2014. Applications must be submitted as one pdf file containing all materials to be given consideration. To apply, please open the link "Apply online," fill in the online application form, and attach all your materials in English in one pdf file.

The file must include:

§ A letter motivating the application (cover letter)

§ CV

§ Grade transcripts and BSc/MSc diploma

§ Excel sheet with translation of grades to the Danish grading system
(see guidelines and excel spreadsheet here)

§ Candidates may apply prior to obtaining their MSc, but cannot begin before having received it.

Projects

The subject of the PhD project must be within one of the main research areas of the department:

Algorithms, Logic and Graphs

Cognitive Systems

Cryptology

Dynamical Systems

Embedded System Engineering

Image Analysis & Computer Graphics

Language-Based Technology

Mathematics

Scientific Computing

Software Engineering

Statistics and Data Analysis

Qualifications

Candidates should hold a MSc degree in engineering or a similar degree with an academic level equivalent to a MSc degree in engineering. Furthermore, good command of the English language is essential.

Approval and Enrolment

The scholarship for the PhD degree is subject to academic approval, and the candidate will be enrolled in the ITMAN Graduate School Programme of DTU Compute. Information about the general requirements for enrolment and the general planning of the scholarship studies is included in the general rules at DTU.

Deadline: April 11, 2014

Open to: women journalists from anywhere in the world whose work has focused on human rights and social justice reporting

Announcement follows

The Elizabeth Neuffer Fellowship is named after the 1998 IWMF Courage in Journalism Award winner and The Boston Globe correspondent who was killed in Iraq in May 2003(focused on human rights and social justice reporting).

This program, created with Neuffer's family and friends, aims to perpetuate her memory and advance her life mission of promoting international understanding of human rights and social justice while creating an opportunity for women journalists to build and improve their skills.

Call For Applications

February 18, 2014 — The International Women's Media Foundation is now accepting applications for the 2014/2015 Elizabeth Neuffer Fellowship.

The fellowship is designed for a woman journalist from anywhere in the world whose work in print, broadcast, or digital media has focused on human rights and social justice reporting. This seven month-long program will take her to Boston and New York to study at MIT's Center for International Studies and work for U.S. media outlets including The Boston Globe and The New York Times.

Now in its 10th year, the fellowship was named for the 1998 IWMF Courage in Journalism Award winner and The Boston Globe correspondent Elizabeth Neuffer, who was killed in Iraq in May 2003. Created with Elizabeth Neuffer's family and friends, the program aims to perpetuate her memory and advance her life mission of promoting international understanding of human rights and social justice while creating an opportunity for women journalists to build and also help to improve their professional skills.

What is the fellowship?

The 10th Elizabeth Neuffer Fellowship runs from September 2014 to March 2015. The fellow will be based at the Center for International Studies at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) in Cambridge, Massachusetts as a research associate during the research component of the fellowship, allowing the fellow to pursue academic research while improving her ability to cover human rights and social justice for The Boston Globe, The New York Times, and other media outlets during the journalism portion of the fellowship.

UN-Habitat Urban Youth Fund International

Scholarship / Financial aid: grants of up to $25,000

Date: 2014

Deadline: April 15, 2013

Open to: young people aged 15-32 based in cities or towns from the developing world

UN-Habitat on Tuesday launched a call for applications for the Urban YouthFund.

In a press release, the agency announced that the Fund will for the fifth year in a row provide grants to projects led by young people aged 15-32 years who are piloting innovative approaches to employment, good urban governance, shelter and secure tenure.

Small development initiatives are eligible for grants up to $25,000.

Indeed, of the one billion slum dwellers in the world today, it is estimated that more than 70% are under the age of 30. These young people have few resources available to improve their own living. Interestingly though, there are many youth-led initiatives in slums and squatter settlements around the world that require support in their efforts to transform their communities. This has led UN-Habitat to reconsider the youth as drivers for change. Through this Fund, UN-Habitat embraces the belief that youth are a solution for sustainable urban development.

The agency invites young people based in cities or towns from the developing world to apply for grants from the Fund. The application will open from February 15th 2013 to April 15th 2013.

The Alfried Krupp Fellows Programme Greifswald, Germany

Scholarship / Financial aid: 3 to 6 Alfried Krupp Senior Fellowships and 6 to 12 Alfried Krupp Junior Fellowships

Date: one semester / one academic year

Deadline: April 30, 2014

Open to: international academics

Announcement follows

Each year the Alfried Krupp Wissenschaftskolleg awards 3 to 6 Alfried Krupp Senior Fellowships and 6 to 12 Alfried Krupp Junior Fellowships. The Institute enables the fellows to concentrate on a major academic project, free of extensive teaching duties. The Institute also offers the opportunity to discuss their discipline with colleagues and students at the Ernst Moritz Arndt University of Greifswald.

Academics who have proven themselves by outstanding research and teaching are appointed as Alfried Krupp Senior Fellows.

Alfried Krupp Junior Fellowships are awarded to particularly qualified young academics with doctorates.

A joint application by several people who wish to realize a project in Greifswald in interdisciplinary and international cooperation is possible.

Alfried Krupp Fellowships are awarded either for a semester (1st October to 31st March or 1st April to 30th September) or for a whole academic year. They may be awarded to academics from Germany or from abroad.

Alfried Krupp Senior Fellowships and Alfried Krupp Junior Fellowships are advertised publicly. Proposals and applications should be submitted to the academic director by the deadline stated in the respective advertisement.

Applicants and persons who wish to propose a researcher to the academic director of the Institute are requested to observe the guidelines for applicants and on submitting proposals, which can also be downloaded as a PDF file.

Where possible, Alfried Krupp Senior Fellows should arrange to be substituted at their respective home institution by a junior academic. The substitution costs will be borne by the Institute. Furthermore, Alfried Krupp Senior Fellows are provided with an apartment and an office, free of charge, in the Alfried Krupp Wissenschaftskolleg. Individual offers may be made by the Institute to Alfried Krupp Senior Fellows who cannot be granted paid leave by their home institutions.

Alfried Krupp Junior Fellows are paid a monthly research grant of 2,700 EUR. As a rule this grant is tax-free in Germany. Additionally, Alfried Krupp

Junior Fellows are provided with an apartment and an office, free of charge, in the Alfried Krupp Wissenschaftskolleg.

Travelling and laboratory costs are not covered by the Institute.

During their stay Alfried Krupp Fellows are expected to complete, or at least to make decisive progress in, a significant research project.

Fellows are expected to live in the Institute.

The Alfried Krupp Wissenschaftskolleg would welcome it if Alfried Krupp Senior Fellows were to hold a class for the students of Greifswald University during their stay.

For any questions about the Fellowship program, please contact the academic manager of the Institute, Dr. Christian Suhm, or the assistant for the Fellowship program, Christin Klaus M. A.,

Käte Hamburger Center for Advanced Study Fellowships/Junior Fellowships
Bonn, Germany

Scholarship / Financial aid: fellowships with stipends

Date: 2014/15

Deadline: April 30, 2014

Open to: international scientists

Announcement follows

The Käte Hamburger Center for Advanced Study in the Humanities "Law as Culture" (<http://www.recht-als-kultur.de/en/>) is seeking applications from academics with demonstrable expertise for a fellowship viz. junior fellowship in the research year 2014/15 on this year's topic: law and the arts (architecture, film, literature, theater, painting...) until April 30, 2014.

The fifth year of research focuses on the interaction between law and the arts in a comparative perspective beyond the law and literature movement. Where does the underlying relationship of law and literature come from? From the fact that is just as necessary to be able to narrate a case as it is to narrate Boccaccio's novella on the "falcon" ? What are the commonalities between qānūn (Arabic for law) and canon in the musical sense? Why is there such a wealth of paintings of law (from Daumier to Klimt etc.) but such a dearth of legal music? How is law and aesthetic representation conveyed in a non-Western context? And what does Shakespeare's "measure for measure" teach us about law? These are but some of the research questions that we will cover in this research year.

The fellowships commence 1 October 2014 or later and are given out for a period of up to 12 months.

The Käte Hamburger Center for Advanced Study in the Humanities "Law as Culture" offers a creative place of study for various cultural science and legal disciplines. Highly qualified scholars are requested to apply by April 30, 2014, enclosing a resume, a project description (5-10 pages) and selected publications. Please send applications by e-mail to uzskqe@uni-bonn.de or by post to the following address:

Bamberg Graduate School of Social Sciences (BAGSS)

The Bamberg Graduate School of Social Sciences (BAGSS) was established in 2010 to create an innovative working and learning environment for exceptionally qualified doctoral researchers.

It has received funding under the German Excellence Initiative since November 2012.

Research

The School's ambition is to stimulate and guide cutting-edge research on some of the most crucial challenges faced by modern knowledge-based societies. Modern economies compete for the most creative minds domestically and internationally. Schools and universities help people to develop the skills necessary for them to compete in the labour market. But people's choices about education and their opportunities in the labour market are influenced by a large number of social, economic and political factors. Therefore, the school seeks to stimulate research in the following inter-connected areas:

- variations in the ability and opportunity of individuals to acquire the competencies and qualifications necessary to participate in social, economic and political life (Pillar 1: Education, Personal Development and Learning from Early Childhood to Adulthood);
- patterns of social and economic inequality contributing to variations in access to education – and the choices individuals make about their own and their offspring's education across the life course (Pillar 2: Education and Social Inequality Across the Entire Life Course);
- the consequences of such variations and of demographic developments for labour markets and businesses that are subject to global competition for market shares, investment and human capital (Pillar 3: Changes in Human Capital, Labour Markets and Demographic Structures and their Impact on Social Inequality in Modern Societies);
- the choices of policy makers searching for responses to these challenges, adjusting national and transnational institutions and seeking to secure political control across a complex web of governance layers from the local to the global (Pillar 4: Governance, Institutional Change and Political Behaviour).

Features

BAGSS offers a highly attractive place for doctoral students wishing to pursue research, and receive tailored training, on these and related issues.

Doctoral researchers at BAGSS benefit from:

- the pooled expertise of a number of nationally and internationally recognised sociologists, psychologists, educational scientists, political scientists, economists, demographers and statisticians;
- a highly research-active environment with an outstanding track record of interdisciplinary projects;
- a well-established network of high-quality national and international collaborations;
- a structured yet flexible qualification programme;
- close and comprehensive supervision and mentoring

These pages are designed to assist you in finding information about

- BAGSS and its academic profile;
- its organisational structure;
- members and faculty;
- its doctoral programme and funding opportunities;
- the application process;
- upcoming and past events.

Summer Program in Quantitative Methods of Social Research University of Michigan, USA

Scholarship / Financial aid: discounted fees and several fee-waver ICSPR scholarships

Date: June/July/August 2014

Deadline: April 1, 2014

Open to: international students

Announcement follows

We welcome you to the ICPSR Summer Program in Quantitative Methods of Social Research.

Last year, we celebrated a half century as a leading program in training in social science research methodologies and technologies. In 2014, we continue to serve diverse multidisciplinary and growing international constituencies, and are working to make our program even better known.

One of the Summer Program's outstanding strengths is its supportive and unique social environment. It facilitates participants' exchange of ideas, approaches, and techniques to develop theories and analyses of social science topics. It also advances professional networking.

When the 2014 schedule is finalized, it will list over 90 beginning and advanced courses at our primary location in Ann Arbor and several "off-site" institutions. They will build upon our foundational core of quantitative methods and substantive topics in a variety of workshops, classes, and special Blalock lectures.

We appreciate your interest in the ICPSR Summer Program, and I hope to see you as a participant this summer.

2014 Registration & Fees

Registration for the 2014 ICPSR Summer Program is now open!

Register in four easy steps:

1. Navigate to our online portal . You will be asked to log in to your ICPSR MyData account. If you do not have an existing MyData account, you will be prompted to create one.
2. Enter your personal information into the registration form.
3. Select courses by clicking the appropriate boxes. Note that course selections in the four-week sessions can be changed at any time.
4. Make payment arrangements. You can either pay yourself or have an appropriate administrator (e.g., the Graduate Studies Director in an academic department) make arrangements to do so on your behalf.

Financial Support

ICPSR offers two primary means of financial support for attendance in the Summer Program: discounted fees for participants from ICPSR member institutions and several fee-waver ICSPR scholarships. Additionally, some non-ICPSR sources provide financial support.

The main financial support ICPSR offers for attendance in the Summer Program is the substantial discount on fees for members. Individuals at ICPSR member institutions pay half the fee rate paid by individuals from non-member institutions. To determine if you are eligible for this discount, please check our complete list of ICPSR member institutions.

ICPSR Scholarships

The ICPSR Summer Program offers several fee-waiver scholarships to support graduate students who want to participate in the Summer Program's four-week sessions. The scholarships are targeted toward specific substantive fields and academic disciplines. No scholarships or fee waivers are available for attendance in the Summer Program's three- to five-day statistical workshops. The selection process for each scholarship is highly competitive. Preference is given to advanced PhD students who are focusing on methodology and statistical analysis, unless stated otherwise in a specific scholarship description. Applications should be responsive to the objectives and requirements of the respective scholarships. Please read the descriptions carefully. The deadline is April 1.

Clifford C. Clogg Scholarship - up to three awards each to graduate students in political science and sociology

Jerome M. Clubb Scholarship - up to two awards to graduate students in quantitative history or related fields

Warren E. Miller Scholarship - up to two awards for pre-tenure scholars conducting research on electoral/political behaviour

Scholarship for Education Research - one award for a graduate student in education and related fields

Scholarship for Developmental, Child, and Family Psychology - one award for a graduate student in developmental, child, or family psychology

Scholarship for Public Administration, Public Policy, and Public Affairs - one award for a graduate student in public administration or related fields

For complete information please visit the official website.
